

Specialist Coaching Programmes

Executive Coaching for leaders of SME's

As a leader of an SME, whatever the industry, it can be very lonely at the top. With everyone in the business expecting you to make the decisions, deliver the strategy, meet necessary regulation requirements and lead, the role can take its toll. Also, business leaders often don't have anybody that they can talk their issues through with.

The opportunity to have a one-to-one conversation with somebody who understands how smaller businesses work and the pressure that these can create is invaluable. A conversation in which there is no judgement just listening and supporting. This coaching programme will deliver greater performance and improved understand of what strategic leadership should look, sound and feel like.

As experts with over 20 years of experience in the small business leader sector we are able to take you and your business to the next level, supporting you in developing a meaningful vision that everyone in the business can be passionate about. It will then support you and take you through to delivering the vision. Improving performance and increasing efficiency on the way.

This programme is an in-depth dive into understanding your business and how you fit into it. Consisting of a 12 month programme with at least 2 hours of one to one face time per month. In this time a professional executive coach will sit with you and talk through all of the major challenges that face your business, prioritise them and then work through them to deliver improved performance.

The evidence is that, from the hundreds of small businesses that we have helped, greater profitability and performance results directly from a high-quality coaching intervention from Unlimited Potential

Who's it for

This programme is designed for the senior leader within their company or site, of companies with a turnover between £300,000 and £120M. This can include general managers, Chief Executives and Managing Directors.

How does it work

